Lauren,

The Mayor welcomes the opportunity to meet the President at the tarmac at Buckley upon his arrival and plans to join the President and guests for all events during his visit to Colorado (small group meeting and large group media event). As we discussed yesterday, we also appreciate the invitation for Chief White to participate in the small group meeting as well.

I have exchanged voice mails with Alan Salazar in Governor Hickenlooper's office to ensure we are all on the same page with regards to the event details.

Please let us know what else we can do to support you with the event planning. I have looped in Amber Miller who serves as the Mayor's Advance Lead, and if you would be able to send us some sort of summary document with the run of show, that will be helpful to ensure we are all in alignment on timing and expectations. We are available throughout the weekend if you should have any issues we need to address.

Best,
Janice

Chief,

Please find below an email from Monica with the specific information the White House is requesting by tomorrow. My thoughts are as follows:

1. In addition to you and Mayor Hancock, I would suggest inviting Council President Mary Beth Susman and President Pro Tem Chris Herndon. Mary Beth asked me if she could attend Are there any other Council Members you would like to be invited? Perhaps Manager Martinez?

2. Since the Mayor is receiving 15 VIP passes the the larger event, here are a few ideas - please send me your additional recommendations:

Mayor Hancock (Amber Miller, Advance Staff)

Chief Robert White

Director Gary Wilson

Chief Eric Tade

Manager Alex Martinez

City Council President Mary Beth Susman President Pro Tem Chris Herndon (since we are recommending they attend the small group meeting)

If the Mayor invites the above individuals, that leaves 7 additional spots. Recommendations?

3. If they provide an opportunity for one or two local officials to make remarks, I would recommend you as the Police Chief and the Mayor.

4. As the program comes together and the White House determines if the Mayor is speaking, I may reach out to you and request your thoughts on what the Mayor should say with regards to gun safety.

If you can possibly get back to me by 5 p.m. today, that would be great. I'll call you later this afternoon if I don't see a response from you (it is Saturday after all!)

Thanks,
Janice

Just to clarify, I only need security information for the Police Chief, City Council President, and the City Council member that represents the Police Academy. The other guests you listed do not need to provide their security information. I will need this information by tomorrow at 11:00 AM EDT.

Also, can you please provide me with the City Council member that represents the Police Academy? Also, can you please provide the best contact information for them?

I have reached out to the City Council President and I will try her via her cell phone. Thanks for providing her contact information.

If you can assist us with tracking down this security information sooner it would be helpful. I will also try on my end.

As for the write up, please feel free to only provide a write up for only the elected officials.

Thanks again for your assistance!

Chief White and team –

The White House has asked for a two to three sentence position for each person that will be at the table on Wednesday. I took a stab at your statement. Please review, edit and send back to me as soon as you can. They asked for these statements by Monday morning.

Police Chief White believes gun policies are absolutely critical. He values the right to bear arms, but does not see any practical reason for individuals to own assault weapons outside of serving as a law enforcement official or in a war abroad.

Here is Mayor Hancock's position:

Mayor Hancock believes gun control is one aspect of a multifaceted approach to gun violence in our society. We must strike a balance between protecting the rights of our people to own guns, while keeping guns out of the hands of criminals as well as our youth by addressing the accessibility of guns and ammunition.

Hey Chief – Does this work?

Police Chief White values the right to bear arms, but believes gun policies are absolutely critical. It's important that we work to ensure guns do not get in the hands of individuals that are intent on harming our residents and universal background checks are one mechanism to prevent these unfortunate incidents from occurring.

Here is Mayor Hancock's position:

Mayor Hancock believes gun control is one aspect of a multifaceted approach to gun violence in our society. We must strike a balance between protecting the rights of our people to own guns, while keeping guns out of the hands of criminals as well as our youth by addressing the accessibility of guns and ammunition.

Chief White (via)
Deputy Chief Nagle (via)
Lieutenant Steck,

I have been on vacation since February 24th, and will not return until next Monday. As a result, I am in the dark concerning inter-department correspondence regarding President Obama's visit to Denver this Wednesday. Through social media, I have heard from other Denver officers that Mr. Obama will be holding a media event at our Academy, and requests are being made (at Roll Calls) for uniformed officers to attend the event. I am assuming the Obama Administration wants a backdrop of uniformed officers (similar to the choreographed events when uniformed first responders stood behind the President during sequester warnings last month).

The U.S. Senate is currently scheduled to vote on several anti-gun bills during the week of April 8th. One of these bills, being pushed by Senator Chuck Schumer, would prohibit the private transfer of firearms without the federal government's approval. So I am assuming the President's timing for his visit here has to do with Colorado's recent gun control legislation signed by Governor Hickenlooper.

If this is the Obama Administration's agenda, to promote gun control legislation at the Federal level, and to use a Denver police facility (Academy) with uniformed Denver police officers as a backdrop, I have grave concerns.

I am not attempting to be insubordinate, but I feel my 18-years of service with DPD has earned me the right to express appropriate concerns in a respectful manner.

The current Second Amendment debate is emotional and entrenched along party lines. There is NO bipartisan consensus. The Democratic National Committee has clearly articulated their desire for gun control, background checks, gun registration, etc. The Republican National Committee is staunchly opposed, stating such legislation would encroach (infringe upon) the Second Amendment. As a casual observer of traditional and social media, this issue has boiled down to being either with the Democrats (liberals) or the Republicans (conservatives).

I am concerned Wednesday's event at the Academy will portray the Denver Police Department as being on the side of the Democrats, and opposed to the Republicans. I am concerned Wednesday's event will announce to the nation our agency is on the side of the Democratic National Committee, at odds with the Republican National Committee.

With these feelings, I am against our police department taking either side. I don't think a major city agency, with our stature in the Colorado law enforcement community, should be an instrument of partisan political influence. Our role should continue to be providing services to insure our citizen's welfare and safety, not to endorse a political party's agenda. We should be neutral in these hotly contested political maneuvers, not players.

My feelings for gun control legislation are not relevant; my issue is our agency, and my fellow officers, are being exploited to further partisan political influence. We should not be a player in this debate by taking the side of one political party over another.

Should we gather at Headquarters, in uniform behind an elected official, to show support for anti-abortion legislation (after all, some of us feel it is criminal to take a human life in the womb)? Or stand behind an elected official, in uniform, beating the drum to censor the media because they impede our investigations?

I have made an initial inquiry with the Denver Board of Ethics. Unfortunately, they will not convene until April 18th (and thus cannot offer an opinion on the ethical conduct I am concerned about the day after tomorrow). When I return from vacation, I will follow-up with Mr. Michael Henry.

I just wanted to express my concerns (keeping in mind I am in the dark, I do not have all the facts, in that I am away and on vacation).

Respectfully,

Technician Danny Veith, 94040

Good afternoon and welcome to Denver. This is a proud moment for the City and for the Denver Police Department.

We are truly honored to welcome the President of the United States of America to our beautiful city, and we are thrilled that he is joining us here at the academy today.

The grants and federal funding the Obama administration has made available have truly had a positive impact here in Denver, and I thank the president and his staff for their support of law enforcement.

I also thank Mayor Michael Hancock for his commitment to public safety and to Denver's police officers.

Denver has experienced several tragedies over recent years, and Mayor Hancock's support of our troops and recognition of their dedication is greatly appreciated.

I've had the opportunity to work in several large police departments across the country, including in Washington D.C. and most recently in Louisville, and I can honestly say we are doing great things here in Denver.

We are developing a police department that is focused on preventing crime in a respectful manner that ensures everyone in our community feels valued, consistent with the Mayor's mission and goals.

We have reformed a cumbersome discipline review system and streamlined the decision making process.

We are also working to get more officers on the streets and into the communities they serve.

Most importantly, I thank the men and women of the DPD.

I am very proud of the work you do day in and day out, including your work to make today's event possible, and I am honored to serve as your new Chief of Police.

And now, it is my sincere privilege to introduce the President of the United States of America, President Barack Obama.

Hey Chief –

Here is what I suggest we sent to the reporter based on the information I received. Let me know if it is accurate and if you are cool with me sending along.

“No officer is required to attend. The Chief allowed his officers to volunteer to go to the event to see the President of the United State here in Denver at their police academy. If an officer is interested and on duty, his or her district commander has the discretion to allow attendance based on staffing levels and need in the district.

Other officers who are off-duty or working the event will also be in attendance, as would be expected.”

Thank you,
